

Corrupt Paper Gold Trading Action on the Comex Futures Exchange, using a 1 minute interval chart to catch the action. The 'dumping' occurred just after midnight NY time, on Monday July 20th.

In one minute gold dropped from $1130 to $1080!

No rational trader would do this. The ideal way to sell that much gold would be to slowly feed it into the market, during the busiest and most liquid time of the day. Someone clearly wanted to cause a crash and thus pave the way to buy back at a lower price.
